China National Academy of Painting (CNAP) base is located at the AAAAA national scenery resort in Jixian County of Tianjin. The base is mainly used by artists of CNAP for artistic creation and exhibition of their works. The project consists of 11 buildings, including four biggest earth-covered painting studios built at about 100m underground in China, six private studio and one public studio. Architectural style of these buildings belongs to Chinese classical garden architecture with "poetic" aesthetics, which is mainly demonstrated in the following four aspects: facade - "wall", interior - "court", color - "black, white and grey" and detail - "refined". These buildings are well integrated into the natural environment and show the essence of Chinese ancient garden architecture.
